But knowledge and aesthetics, if they do not remain true to thoir religious origin, if they are not saturated and directed by a religious dieal, if they are not under the inspiration of Him, who is revested in the wonders of the mind and the universe, will often drag man down beneath the brute. Disbranched and severed from their material sap, they must perforce wither and come to a deadly use. Thus moral culture tee, must, from its very nature and purpose, always remain in closest touch with religious sentiment and worship; it depends for its vigor and finest fiber, upon the faith that we are, made in the image of God. Morals or ethics are but one of the flowers, that grow on the tree of religious life, and unless we cultivate the roots, how can we hope to cull its blossoms. Ethical culture, therefore, to our thinking as apart from a worse yet, set over against the native religious trand of the mind, is a contradiction in terms, While engaged in the decileation of this beautiful house, we would remember that there is nothing especially consecrating or sacred in word or tone. It is certainly encouraging that in these busy piping times, we find time and thought to build new homes for our ideals, but let us not forget the words of our propele: "Where is the house that ye can bild for me, and where is the place of my resting?" The Temple of God is not made of material things, nor can life kingdom ever be built of them. The sanctuary of the divine is in our own hearts, and out of it comes all the issues of our life and its consecrating force. The spirit of God, the true religious life, is with him we are told, who is meek and of contrite spirit and who is cager in awe and reverence to heed and do the word of God is not made of material things, nor can life for my resting?" After eating, Mrs. Chadwick lay on her cot and said it was her first peaceful moment she had since her troubles in Now York began. Warden Flynn, of the Tombs, was so nervous over the welfare of Mrs. Chadwick and the possibility of her doing herself bodily harm, that to-day he enforced the rule applied only in exceptional cases of not allowing her either knife or fork with which to eat. Consequently the lamb chop, which she ordered, had to be cut for her and she ate it with a spoon.

SAN FRANCISCO. December 9.—Mrs. Alice M. York, of this city, has reiterated her statement that she is the sister of Mrs. Chadwick, despite the latter's repudiation of the relationship. She said:
"My sister, Elizabeth Bigley now Mrs. Chadwick, was bern near London, Canada, about forty-two years ago. Her girlhood days were spent at Eastwood and Woodstock, which was the home of our family. She was not a great reader, and as for having read books on mesmerism and the like, that is all nonsense. There was nothing peculiar about her as a girl, save that she was a deep thinker. She always seemed absorbed in thought, and would sit in silence by the hour. She seemed in a trance, and never would pay attention to any one. She would come out of these thinking spells of the payddered. She would never diswould pay attention to any one, side would come out of these thinking spous as if bewildered. The assaulters succeeded in holding some eighty yards of the trenches in front of the paralells, but their effort to front of the paralells, but their effort to rush the trench line cast and west was a failure, owing to lineassable burning pits. The Japanese built traverse walls across the trench under the protection of their machine guns and tried to cross the

At 6 o'clock in the evening a furious Russian counter attack drove the Japanese back to the parallels with great loss.

At 0 o'clock the Japanese again captured the same portion of the trench and made desperate, but unsuccessful efforts

Another attempt was made to pierce the principal line of fortifications surrounded ing the rear of the eastern part of Pantung Mountain, where, after four furious attempts, a small body o Japanese succeeded in getting through the wall and in establishing themselves on the lower slopes of Wantal Hill. The Russians rushed the supports with machine guns from the upper slopes of the Wantal Hills forts and the small party of Japanese was practically annihilated. The most desperate tighting took place at this point.

Fought at Midnight.

Fought at Midnight.

The last effort of the assaulters was made at midnight, assisted by artillery, which covered the slopes of Wantai Hill with an avalanche of shells. The Russians fought with tremendous courage, engaging the Japanese with bayonets and grenades when they came to close quarters. The Japanese finally established a trench line five yards in front of the line of fortifications, which they now occupy. The forces are engaged in throwing dynamite grenades at each other. The attempts which were first made to rush the western part of Riblung Mountain, officially called Sungshu Mountain, also ended in railure. The Japanese reached the parapets from the moat, but fied as fast as they came from the fire within the fort. The walls were black with the assaulters, who were deluged with shells from supporting forts.

At 9 o'clock at night a force of two thousand volunteers from the right division, led by a general, started from a point southwest of Shuishi Village, pushed up the gorge between the two fortified ridges, and attacked the fort hill and engaged a strong force of Russians upon its slopes in a hand-to-hand encorater, which lasted for two hours. At the same time the Japanese assaulting the east and west Riblung forts made desperate attempts to rush the interior of the forts. They gained the ramparts, inside which they established trench lines.

THE CHANGE IN MILK PRICES.

To the Public: Some misunderstanding has arisen as to the recent action of the dairymen of this city in announcing an increase in the price of milk. The cold truth is that the increase is not a result of the milk inspection Two, recently adopted by our City Council. It is not such that the increase in the price of the milk inspection Two, recently adopted by our City Council. It is not such that the control of the control of the council of the control of the council of adopted by our city Counter. It is not us have been selling milk many years at a cut-price. We have secured from the books of S. T. Boveridge & Co.. a direct statement of the figures of cattle feed in 1902, 1903 and this year, and here shey pute. Samples are taken from every can we send out, and the official reports are filled in our office. Therefore, we know that our milk is absolutely pure, with not a drop of water, and meeting the requirements in its proportion of nourishing elements. No means have been discovered to prevent milk from varying slightly in quality and flavor. This depends on the food taken by the cows, on the general condition of the animals, varying from day to day, and even from one time of day to day, and even from one time of milkers. We do know that our milk is absolutely clean and pure and is shown absolutely clean and pure and is shown by saily chemical analysis to contain the proper amount of nourishment. We are selling a good product at a fair price and we invite inspection not only by the official representatives of the city, but by any old or new customers who may wish to satisfy themselves thoroughly as to what they are getting.
